

Exporting Nucleic Alignment to Amino Translation

Select a single object with a nucleic sequence alignment in the Project View window and click the Export > Export nucleic alignment to amino translation context menu item:

The Export Nucleic Alignment to Amino Translation dialog will appear:

Here it is possible to specify the result file location, to select a file format and an amino translation, to export whole alignment or selected rows and optionally add the created document to the current project.