

Creating Document

To create a new sequence file from a text, select the File New document from text main menu item or Create Sequence on the main screen.
The Create Sequence dialog appears:

Create Sequence

Paste data here

ACGT

☒ Custom settings

Alphabet: Standard DNA

☒ Skip unknown symbols

☐ Replace unknown symbols with

Save sequence to file

File format FASTA

Sequence name Sequence

☐ Save file immediately

Help

Cancel

Create

You can input the created sequence to the Paste data here field. You can type or paste sequences in FASTA or text format.

The following Custom settings are available:

Alphabet — here you can select the alphabet:

☒ Custom settings

Alphabet: Standard DNA

☒ Skip unknown symbols

☐ Replace unknown symbols with

Save sequence to file

File format FASTA

Sequence name Sequence

- Standard DNA
- Standard RNA
- Extended DNA
- Extended RNA
- Standard amino acid
- Extended amino acid
- Raw

The following alphabets are available: Standard DNA, Standard RNA, Extended DNA, Extended RNA, Standard amino, Extended amino, Raw.

Skip unknown symbols / Replace unknown symbols with — you can select either to skip unknown input symbols or to replace them with the specified symbol.

Save sequence to file — a location of the created document.

File format — a format of the created document. Currently available formats are FASTA and Genbank.

Sequence name — a name of the sequence in the created document.

Save file immediately — check this option if you want to save the document immediately after the Create button is pressed.

The created document will be added to the current project and opened in the Sequence View.